

Revised Certification Exams FAQ

The application discount for the CENP/CNML exam is an incentive to participate in the CENP/CNML new form certification examination standard setting process.

What are the discount codes for the revised exams?

- Enter discount code CNML50 on the payment screen to receive 50% of the CNML exam if you take it anytime from November 1 – December 31, 2023.
- Enter discount code CENP50 on the payment screen to receive 50% of the CENP exam if you take it anytime from November 15 – December 31, 2023.

Why is there a new exam form?

Certification examinations are revised after a periodic completion of a job analysis/role delineation study and changes to the exam content outline. AONL-CC conducted a job analysis in 2022 for both the CENP and the CNML. An industry standard process reviewed new and current items against the new content outline and developed a new/updated exam form for certification. The new form replaces the current form beginning November 1, 2023 for the CNML and November 15, 2023 for the CENP.

Is this a practice exam or the true examination for certification?

This is a scored exam and is used to grant certification on successful completion. The CNML exam has 100 scored items and 15 pretest items. The CENP exam has 150 scored items and 25 pretest items.

What is the passing score?

The passing score will be set after a statistical analysis of the new exam's performance against the recommendations of the Standard Setting Committee. You will know the exam passing score when you receive your score report.

When will I know if I passed or not?

A score report will be sent 8-12 weeks after exam completion. Date of certification is based on examination date even though your score report is delayed.
